Thanks for your kind invitation, it was indeed a very pleasant evening that I would attend again if the opportunity arises. Here's a short feedback:

- A panel of attendees was interesting as they were from different industries and seniority levels.
- The overall atmosphere was great, friendly and professional at the same time.
- Having everyone introduce themselves before dinner was useful, especially asking them to mention the different risks and difficulties they encountered was smart as it created link amongst us.
- Point of improvement: maybe try to create more interactions amongst all attendees during a presentation in asking for feedback or opinions. When it was done it was very interesting to hear people's thoughts.

It was also very interesting to exchange with people from other banks (Banque de France; LCL, Barclays ...) and also people from industry.
